Re: Gallery Activation Coordinator (18-month contract)

Dear Hiring Committee,

I am delighted to apply for the Gallery Activation Coordinator role at the Royal Ontario Museum. I have spent my career helping galleries come to life for visitors, from the reinstallation of the Michael C. Rockefeller Wing at the Metropolitan Museum of Art to community-shaped exhibitions at the Denver Art Museum, and today I plan and deliver workshops and public events for young people in Kingston.

I understand the care and coordination it takes to bring objects and people together in a gallery. At the Denver Art Museum, I coordinated exhibition deliverables, schedules, and budgets across concurrent projects with fixed opening dates, and I handled and installed sculpture, textiles, and works on paper to professional museum standards in partnership with registration and conservation. At the Smithsonian National Museum of African Art, I applied federal-standard intake, documentation, and object-handling protocols.

I also know how to build experiences people remember. At the Met, I worked with curatorial, conservation, registration, education, and design teams to shape interpretation for the reinstalled wing, and I wrote gallery interpretation and three published essays for the Heilbrunn Timeline of Art History. At Emole Futures Initiative, I run hands-on workshops, mentoring sessions, and public events, and I recruit, schedule, and supervise program assistants and volunteers. I measure what works through a 27-question intake survey I designed and use what we learn to improve the next cycle.

I would bring that blend of collections care, logistics, and audience focus to activating the ROM's galleries, including programs that welcome families and young visitors. I hold an MA in Art History from Queen's University and would welcome the chance to work on-site with your team in Toronto.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to discussing how I can help the ROM's galleries engage every visitor.

Sincerely,

Adekunle Adeniji
